Korea-Central America Free Trade Agreement

To encourage expansion and diversification of trade between ROK and CA countries, the first official FTA negotiation was kicked off in June 2015 and the final agreement was reached in November 2016 after seven rounds of negotiation meetings.

As a result, in February 2018, ROK signed FTA with five Central American countries: Costa Rica, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, and Panama, and ROK became the first East Asian country to sign a joint FTA with these five economies.

In case of Guatemala, an initial participant of the K-CA FTA negotiation from the initial stage in 2015, the negotiation was concluded and the FTA with ROK was signed in September 2023.

While the ratification of the FTA between ROK and Guatemala is pending as of September 2024, an official letter of Guatemala's intent for the accession to the K-CA FTA agreement was sent to ROK in January 2024.

The effective years of the FTA with the five Central American countries, excluding Guatemala, are as follows: Nicaragua and Honduras in October 2019, Costa Rica in November 2019, El Salvador in January 2020, and Panama in March 2021.

The effective year of Korea-Guatemala FTA is expected to be 2024.

Country Profile: Republic of Korea

Before signing of the K-CA FTA and the Republic of Korea(ROK)'s incorporation into CABEI, ROK was just one of many external players in the global market rather than a partner for the Central America(CA) region. Considering the physical distance of 13,558km between the Republic of Korea (ROK) and Central America, it is natural that ROK is unfamiliar to the region.

With the K-CA FTA fully effective and ROK's increasing presences in the region, now is the time to learn about the country and potential opportunities in the ROK market.

Maritime Logistics

Busan Port is the world's 2nd busiest transshipment port and the world's No.7 container port, handling 76.6% of domestic container cargo as of 2022. As such, Busan port is the largest seaport in Korea, and a global transshipment hub.

It is a super port recording 21.91 million TEU of annual container throughput in 2022, and a Northeast Asia logistics hub connected with 500 ports around 150 countries through operation of over 179 weekly voyages.

Considering the largest cargo service capacity, as well as its convenient location to reach from the Americas, the marine transport route and cost estimate between CA and South Korea will be based on setting Busan Port as the destination.

* Source : Yonhap News

The ocean transportation routes from Central America to Korea typically follow similar paths, with major ports requiring transshipments in locations such as Mexico or Panama. A direct shipping option is not available, except for Panama.

Shipping companies and routes from Central American countries to South Korea are shown in the Figure below. In addition, when shipping from the Americas to the (north)east Asia, it is usual to arrive at Yokohama, Japan first, and then to the destinations in South Korea and PR China.

it takes at least 2 ports and minimum 29 days to maximum 62 days to ship freight from CA ports to Busan port, Korea.
